Jack Lieberman Joins US Capital

SAN FRANCISCO, February 2009—Jack Lieberman, former Vice President of Fordham Financial Services, has recently joined US Capital Partners, Inc.

“Mr. Lieberman has extensive experience in both finance and law,” noted Jeffrey Sweeney, General Partner of US Capital. “He combines years of legal and management experience with specialist expertise in asset-based lending. This makes him a really valuable addition to our team.”

Before joining US Capital, Mr. Lieberman worked with Fordham Financial Services, a Chicago asset-based lender. Prior to his career in finance, he managed medical practices in California and Illinois for fifteen years. He also practiced law in California and Illinois for ten years as a litigator in government and the private sector.

As Vice President at US Capital, Mr. Lieberman will be responsible for business development, management of client relationships, and underwriting.

“We have steadily been building a solid team of in-house specialists to add value in our relationships with clients and strategic partners,” observed Charles Towle, a Director of US Capital. “This has allowed us to evolve into a highly successful full-service investment bank, with over $250 million in annual deal flow from the small- to middle-market business arena.”
